Effective May 3, 2019, the official print publications of the New Mexico Compilation Commission will be manufactured, sold and distributed by Blue360° Media through an exclusive content license awarded through a competitive bid process. Blue360° Media is a legal publishing company serving over 40 state law enforcement communities and will service New Mexico's government and private sectors on behalf of the Compilation Commission.

The traditional official law publications published annually by the Compilation Commission will continue with these exciting new enhancements made possible by Blue360° Media:

The New Mexico Statutes Annotated 1978™ in the current loose-leaf red binder format will be replaced by an easier-to-manage annual total replacement softbound cover format. No more filing of annual replacement and supplement pamphlets or bulky binders.

The 2019 editions of the New Mexico Criminal and Traffic Law Manual™ and the New Mexico Selected Taxation and Revenue Laws and Regulations Manual™ will be offered with options for e-book versions and convenient product bundles.

For the first time, there will be an option to take advantage of either a mobile application or flash drive that will allow for a downloadable version of the current *New Mexico Statutes Annotated with the state constitution for use in low to no internet areas of the state.

Your current account information with the Compilation Commission will be transitioned to Blue360° Media, and you will begin to receive information from its dedicated customer service team. You will be able to preview and verify your product orders, pre-order any time, and receive quotes prior to your products shipping to you.

Blue360° Media offers online account management with online payment and order tracking through its state-of-the-art systems.
